A CHASTENED TRUMP HAWKS INCLUSIVE BEANS

President Trump and daughter Ivanka advertise Goya products in a new effort to be inclusive

July 16, 2020

WASHINGTON, DC ~ Armed Freedom

CNN's Chris Cuomo was unsparing of President Trump in his July 16 segment when he said: "You tell me how a president, in the middle of a pandemic, has got time for this bullshit. Are you kidding me? Hawking products?" Noting that Trump did this while seated behind the Resolute desk in the Oval Office, Cuomo added, "This is what he's resolute about."

Chris, Chris, Chris . . . you've got it all wrong, buddy. Trump has finally seen the light! Black Lives Matter, the "better angels" of the Christian churches and the nation's mosques have broken through his denial, his racism, and his captivity to paranoid delusions! This is a time to celebrate!

What you have to realize, Chris, is that the immigrant couple, fleeing Franco's murderous regime in 1936 for Lower Manhattan, founded what would become the largest Hispanic-owned food company in the United States and it bears their name: Goya. Far from bloviating about "Mexican rapists" and his "big, beautiful wall" (sections of which have fallen down anyhow due to shoddy design and construction by one of Trump's favored companies), the President is now affirming the importance of immigrants and our friends south of the border!

Oh yeah, sure, the grandson of Goya's founders shared a Rose Garden appearance with Trump at press conference on July 9 in which he praised the President as "a great builder." But it's only the height of your cynicism to even suspect a quid pro quo when Goya's line of products were later displayed in the Oval office on the Resolute desk with a grinning president giving the products a thumbs up.

As for the president being a builder . . . well, Chris . . . you know how it goes: over time, institutions tend to lose their way and stray from their founding values. Devolution sets in. Just look at some of the "Christian" churches . . . or the Republican Party. But I repeat myself.

Finally, Chris, while Ivanka surely is in violation of the Hatch Act for holding up a can of Goya Beans herself, you know as well as I do that it's only a matter of time before Holly Lobby's David and Barbara Green get into the act. As founders of the Museum of the Bible in DC, it's only a matter of time before Ivanka is selling Bibles!

When that happens, then the next time President Trump engages in a bit of urban slum removal to clear a path for a photo op of him holding up a Bible in front of St. John's Church, he can hold up one Ivanka ~~sells~~ gives him! Then, when a reporter asks if it's his bible, he can affirm, "It is!"

And that will ensure that the "Christian" right votes for him in November. It's brilliant! So, Chris, enough with your cynicism, already!
